

Where Rebels Roost

Mississippi Civil Rights Revisited

M. Susan Orr Klopfer, MBA

with Fred J. Klopfer, PhD and

Barry C. Klopfer, Esq.

Foreword by Benjamin T. Greenberg

Where Rebels Roost: Mississippi Civil Rights Revisited

Second Edition

Copyright © 2005-2006 M. Susan Orr Klopfer

All rights reserved, including electronic.

Copyrights are still required for book production in the United States. However, any properly footnoted quotation of up to 500 sequential words may be used without permission, so long as the total number of words quoted does not exceed 2,000. For longer quotations, or for a greater number of words quoted, written permission from the author is required.

Any copyrighted material on these pages is used in "fair use," for the purpose of study, review or critical analysis only, and will be removed at the request of copyright owner(s).

Manufactured in the United States of America

Cover and all photographs copyright © 2005 M. Susan Klopfer

Published by M. Susan Orr-Klopfer

Editors

Margaret Block, history

Jan Hillegas, development

Geoffrey F.X. O'Connell, development

Karrie Schoppe, computer technology, cover design

For information send email to: sklopfer@earthlink.net

Or visit <http://themiddleoftheinternet.com>

CONTENTS

Foreword by Benjamin T. Greenberg vii

Prologue xiv

Book One History to Learn From

- Chapter 1 From the Delta 30
- Chapter 2 On Becoming Mississippi 37
- Chapter 3 Hands that Picked the Cotton 55
- Chapter 4 War of Aggression 64
- Chapter 5 Freedom's Taste 85
- Chapter 6 Power of Terrorism 119
- Chapter 7 Integration 'Impossible' 135
- Chapter 8 Under the Microscope 157

Book Two Still Time To Learn

- Chapter 9 Mississippi Stories 178
- Chapter 10 Veterans Challenge the System 186
- Chapter 11 War Rumors Hang Around 195
- Chapter 12 Post War Civil Rights 207
- Chapter 13 Brown & White Citizens Councils 217
- Chapter 14 Bloody Belzoni 240
- Chapter 15 Emmett Till 249
- Chapter 16 The Meltons of Glendora 280
- Chapter 17 Surviving Mississippi 295
- Chapter 18 Registering Voters 306
- Chapter 19 Mission Implausible 337
- Chapter 20 Pushing the System 350
- Chapter 21 Cleve McDowell 381
- Chapter 22 Medgar Evers 394
- Chapter 23 De' Lay 399

Chapter 24	Follow the Money	419
Chapter 25	Chaney, Goodman & Schwerner	433
Chapter 26	Let the Summer Begin	461
Chapter 27	Klandestine	469
Chapter 28	Freedom Democrats	483
Chapter 29	Not Afraid	493
Chapter 30	For Freedom's Sake	509
Chapter 31	Self Preservation	524
Chapter 32	Advocacy Building	542
Chapter 33	More Violence to Reconcile	561
Chapter 34	A Place in Time	591

Epilogue 612

Appendix

Lists of the Dead	615
People of Emmett Till	636
WeBlog: Mack Charles Parker	652
Selected Bibliography	654
About the Authors	663
Index	664

Author's Note: Where Rebels Roost, Mississippi Civil Rights Revisited is nonfiction. Descriptions and dialogue are based on interviews conducted with eyewitnesses and participants in the events described. In addition, newspapers, books, journal and magazine accounts were used. Other resources were court records, documents, letters, diaries, and oral histories from various libraries, archives and private collections. Two other primary sources used were government materials provided under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act and material from the archives of the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission, available online.

Acknowledgements: I owe a debt of gratitude to many people who have helped me write this book. I would especially like to thank Nettie Davis and her family for sharing memories of a good friend, Cleve McDowell; Margaret Block for sharing her personal experiences and information about her brother, Sam Block; Dr. L. C. Dorsey for her support and enthusiasm and for sharing her family stories; Benjamin T. Greenberg for his many thoughtful contributions, especially for the time he gave this project in writing a comprehensive and sensitive foreword to this book; Lawrence Guyot for his interest in this project and sharing of resources; Hunter Bear [Dr. John R. Salter, Jr./Hunter Gray] for sharing his memories of Medgar Evers; Marvin Flemmons who shared the blues history he has so carefully gathered; Calvin Stewart for telling me about Birdia Keglar; Robert Keglar, Gwen Dailey and Lucy Boyd for sharing their memories of Birdia Keglar and her son, James; Rev. Willie Blue for information shared on Mrs. Keglar; Charles Sudduth for sharing his early-day experiences in Washington County and his intimate knowledge of the Klan; Nina Black Zachary for telling me the story of Adlena McKinley Hamlett of Charleston; Jan Hillegas and Geoffrey F. X. O'Connell for special editing help; Mrs. Fairman of Tougaloo College for helping to locate archived materials; Dr. Bill Tucker for his help and interest and for writing his book on Scientific Racism that opened up information about the Sovereignty Commission and Mississippi history, making this book possible; "Arrow" for his continued interest and answering so many questions; Kerrie Schoppe for her web work and interest; Betty Orr, John Orr, Patricia Fua, Bette Smith and Ursula Powers for their ongoing interest and support; Owen Brooks for listening and introducing Jan Hillegas; Ira Wilson for his ongoing enthusiasm; a minister who remains unnamed who shared an important book that sparked the idea for writing this book; two physicians and a healthcare administrator for their sustained interest and encouragement; another physician, Larry Williamson, who has maintained interest, and so many others whose names do not appear, either by their choice or my concern for their safety or my forgetfulness. But thanks also to Dr. Gary May for calling me a "historian" at just the right time. Thanks to everyone. sk

Dedicated to the memory of Birdia Keglar, Adlena Hamlett,
Rev. Cleve McDowell and Sam T. Block , Jr.